

The following photos are scenes from daily life or cultural activities. Please enter your humorous comments about the photos written in Glomaji. Photos for the competition and a more detailed explanation of Glomaji are available at www.glomaji.com/humor/sample.pdf. The eight best comments will appear every month on this page along with the entrant's name. A prize of 5,000 yen will be offered to the most humorous comment among them.

次の写真は日本の文化や生活のシーンの写真です。写真についてのユーモラスなコメントを Glomaji で書き込んでください。
www.glomaji.com/humor/sample.pdf にコンテスト用の写真、Glomaji についての詳しい説明があります。毎月ユーモアコメントベスト8には名前と共に下記のように掲載いたします。その中で最もユーモラスなコメントには5,000円を贈ります。

[Pet Boom]

(Pets are treated as a family member)

Yappari, hontouno kodomo no hou ga kawaii nn da na.

It's just as I thought, kids are cuter.

– Sarah FOTHERINGHAM, United Kingdom

Ninngenn'sama wa tema ga kakaru ne.

Humans sure are a lot of bother. – Jim COULSON, Australia

[Ranndoseru]

(School satchel)

"Aka shingou minnnade watareba kowaku nai!"
Hontou da ne.

"When everyone crosses together on a red light, we're not scared." That's so true. – Soon KIM, Korea

"Watashitachi wa kame no kodomo dewa arimasenn."
We are not turtle offspring. – KONDOU Maiko, Japan

[Shirobai]

(Patrol bike. A word made by combining "shiroi" and "bike")

Kado o magattara, hennshinn da!

Turn the corner and henshin! – Raul HONTANA, Spain

Ore, konnnakoto shitete iino? Tada no arubaito nano ni.

Is it okay for me to do this? I'm just a part timer.

– KAWAI Fumito, Japan

[Gomibako]

(trash cans seen in front of convenience stores)

Oi oi, neko o sutetewa dame. Tabenasai, mottai nai.

Hey! You can't throw cats away. You should eat them up, it's such waste. – SAITOU Kimi, Japan

Kyou mo post to machigaeta hito ga iru yo.

Today too, some people mistook these bins for the post box.

– Pascale OLRV, France

